Annotation: The uniqueness of the economy, industry, production and natural resources of the USA and Britain and their position in the world economy reflect the specific features of the country's development in the last century. It is noteworthy that there is a discrepancy between the positions of countries in international trade in industrial production and the foreign exchange sector on the one hand, and a reduced but very strong position in the export of capital, as well as Washington and London as one of the leading financial and commodity exchange centers. This article will discuss this in detail.

Key words: economy, industry, production and natural resources, capital, industrial production, foreign exchange sector, finance.

Introduction: The difference between the US and the UK is multi-layered, as even the two countries speak English differently. The US is expanded as Great Britain, and the United Kingdom is expanded as Great Britain. Sometimes USA is also called US, which means United States of America. Both are western countries, which have great influence on global affairs. But it can be said that Great Britain was the emperor of the world in the past, and the US is the unofficial emperor today. This is due to the power they exert throughout the world.

The United States of America is simply known as the United States of America or the United States. It is a federal constitutional republic consisting of fifty states and a federal district. The United States is located between the Pacific and Atlantic oceans, bordered by Canada to the north and Mexico to the south. In the US, the government is known as a federal presidential constitutional republic. In addition, the United States also has several territories in the Caribbean and the Pacific. Native Americans are believed to have migrated from Asia at least 40,000 years ago.

The US is the largest economy in the world. It is characterized by a capitalist mixed economy. It has abundant natural resources and thus the economy is highly productive. The current president of the USA is President Barack Obama (2014). He is the first African-American president of the United States. The capital of the USA is Washington, the largest city of the USA is New York.

The official name of Great Britain is the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland. Great Britain or Great Britain consists of Great Britain and Northern Ireland. It is a sovereign state located on the continental coast of Europe. Great Britain is surrounded by the Atlantic Ocean, the North Sea, the English Channel and the Irish Sea. It should be noted that Great Britain is a constitutional monarchy and a unitary state. The United Kingdom of Great Britain was established on 1 May 1707 by the political union of the Kingdom of England and the Kingdom of Scotland using the Act of Union. Thus, Great Britain is a country consisting of four regions such as England, Northern Ireland, Scotland and Wales. The United Kingdom is governed by a parliamentary system with a constitutional monarchy.

The UK economy is the fifth largest in the world (as of 2014) and the third largest in Europe. Germany and France are the first and second largest economies in Europe. Great Britain has a market economy.

David Cameron, current Prime Minister of Great Britain (2014). At the same time, the monarch Queen Elizabeth II (2014). The capital of Great Britain is London. It is also the largest city in the country.
